DEADLINE

Deadline for the next issue of Today & Tomorrow, which will cover the time period Aug. 6-Sept. 7, will be Tuesday, July 26, 11 a.m. Please send your copy to Allen Balderson, News & Public Information Services, 532 Parnassus Ave., Rm. 300, x1541 or x2557.

Stewart K. Akahoshi of Los Angeles was awarded the Bowl of Hygeia — the highest honor given to a graduating School of Pharmacy student — at commencement ceremonies on June 26. The award is given to the senior student who best demonstrates the qualities of an ideal pharmacist, according to a vote by pharmacy students and faculty.

Nancy Y. Ichiuji of Pacific Grove and Douglas C. O'Brien of Santa Ana received honorable mention.

The bowl and serpent of Hygeia are the internationally recognized symbols of pharmacy. Hygeia was a Greek goddess of health who tended the sick with a shallow bowl in her hand. The Bowl of Hygeia Award presented at UCSF consists of a shallow bronze bowl with an entwined serpent.

The SF Board of Education has given UCSF a six-month option on the Poly High School site, starting July 1.

According to Tom Rolinson, associate administrative vice chancellor, the campus will continue to pursue a lease agreement.

A needs assessment survey has been sent out to a random selection of 2,300 students, faculty and staff, which along with informational meetings will assist in determining housing, parking and recreational needs on that site.

Environmental impact reports will be prepared for both the Poly High and the proposed Vision Research Center projects.

A "scoping meeting" for the proposed Vision Research Center will be conducted by the firm of Planning, Analysis and Development on Thursday, July 14, at 7:30 p.m. in Toland Hall, to explain the EIR process and solicit community and campus suggestions on issues they feel the EIR should address.

Informational planning meetings, which will include discussion on the Poly High site, will be held on Wednesday, August 24, and Thursday, September 29, at noon in Toland Hall and at 7:30 p.m. in the Laguna Honda conference room. For further information call x3206.

UCSF was notified on June 30 that the campus had been selected by Blue Cross to participate in its Prudent Buyer Plan.

William B. Kerr, director of Hospitals and Clinics, in a statement declared:

"I am extremely pleased that we are one of a select group of Bay Area hospitals to be included in this program. Our contract with Blue Cross establishes a fixed per diem reimbursement for hospital services, as well as a rate schedule for participating physicians. Based on such contracts, Blue Cross anticipates marketing a health insurance program at substantially reduced premium rates.

"Large numbers of Blue Cross subscribers and their families have historically chosen to seek care at UCSF. In fact, we have been the largest Blue Cross hospital provider in San Francisco. UCSF provides a full range of primary care and specialty services, not only to residents of the Bay Area, but to subscribers throughout the State of California.

"Inclusion in this program means that UCSF will be able to meet the continuing needs of our Blue Cross patients for high quality, cost-effective services. The Prudent Buyer Program will make our services available to an ever larger population in the future."

In ballots counted at the Public Employment Relations Board (PERB) office in Sacramento in late June, UC staff employees in the Patient Care Professional bargaining unit voted against collective bargaining with No Representation 608 and the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) 453.

UC staff employees voted for collective bargaining in the following systemwide units:

- Printing Trades: Printing Trades Alliance 69, no representation 2
- Librarians: American Federation of Teachers 170, no representation 158
- Service: AFSCME 2,847, no representation 918
- Patient Care Technical: AFSCME 1,678, no representation 812
- Registered Nurses: California Nurses Association (CNA) 2,223, no representation 865
- Clerical and Allied Services: AFSCME 5,975, no representation 5,255.

Final results for the Technical unit will not be known for at least two weeks because of challenged ballots. Preliminary results are no representation 1158, AFSCME 1086 and challenged 86.

In an "on-site" election on June 14, the UCSF Skilled Crafts unit voted to be represented by the SF Building and Construction Trades Council with 34 votes, no representation 8 and AFSCME 7.

For further information contact the Labor Relations Department at x3905.

The UCSF Kidney Transplant Unit marked its 2,000th kidney transplant surgery in late June. The largest program of its kind in the world, the service is the first to reach this number. Many UCSF transplant patients have now had functioning kidneys for more than 10 years.

Oscar Salvatierra, Jr., MD, professor, Surgery and chief of the UCSF Transplant Service, headed the transplant team for the recipient, and Nicholas Feduska, MD, associate professor, Surgery, headed the surgery team for the donor. The surgeries were completed without complication, they reported.

Established in 1964, the UCSF program now averages about 165 transplant surgeries a year, with about 40 percent of these involving living-related donors. All other transplant surgeries rely on cadaver kidneys.

Clinical toxicologist Kent R. Olson, MD, has been named program director of the SF Bay Area Regional Poison Control Center, effective July 1, replacing Theodore Tong, who left last year. A lecturer in the schools of Pharmacy and Medicine, Olson for the past two years has taught and consulted in the Poison Center, which is located at SFGH. He has also served as an emergency room physician at Eden Hospital, Castro Valley.

The Poison Center, founded in 1979 by the UCSF schools of Pharmacy and Medicine in cooperation with the SF Department of Health, provides poison information, treatment and referral assistance to residents of Northern California. Its 24-hour telephone hotline is staffed by pharmacists who answer 30,000 calls each year from the Center's office in the SFGH emergency room. Charles E. Becker, MD, chief, Clinical Pharmacology and Toxicology, is medical director of the Center.

The Center also is nationally known for its work with public safety agencies in providing information on toxic exposures from fire and chemical spills. It also serves as a teaching resource for health professionals.

Olson is a '78 graduate of the School of Medicine, and completed his fellowship in clinical toxicology at SFGH.

Eight students received awards for outstanding work in the fields of psychiatry and psychology at graduation ceremonies for the Department of Psychiatry on June 10. They are: Robin Julia Cooper, MD, the Henry Albronda Memorial Award; Beth Taylor, MD, the Alexander Simon Award; Jack A. Grebb, MD, the Creative Psychiatric Resident Award; Jeffrey L. Cohen, MD, the Laughlin Award by the National Psychiatric Endowment Fund; Nelia Berko, DMH, Outstanding Work in Community Mental Health award; Lisa Buchberg, DMH, Outstanding Clinical Knowledge and Skills award. All students are from San Francisco.

In addition, future graduates Richard E. Shaw and Gayle Nethercut, also of San Francisco, received Robert E. Harris awards, named after the first psychologist appointed to the faculty at UCSF.

Carolyn Klebanoff, MD, of Seattle, is the recipient of the 1982-1983 Julius R. Krevans Prize for Clinical Excellence, given each year to an outstanding UCSF intern at SFGH.

The award was presented by Rudi Schmid, MD, dean of the School of Medicine, at the annual meeting of the SFGH medical staff on June 29.

The $500 prize was established three years ago by the Gladstone Foundation Laboratories for Cardiovascular Disease, a privately-funded, UCSF-affiliated research facility located at SFGH, to honor Chancellor Krevans, MD, former dean of the School of Medicine.

The award is presented each year to a UCSF intern completing one of the three training programs based at SFGH. It is given for "excellence in patient care, as exemplified by clinical competence, professional conduct, concern for patients and interaction with all levels of staff including peers."

Klebanoff attended medical school on a prestigious Regents' Scholarship, graduating last year. She will continue her postgraduate medical education at SFGH as a resident in the UCSF/SFGH primary care internal medicine program.

The Employment Division of the Personnel Department has opened a new satellite office at CED, Room 131, 1855 Folsom Street, providing personnel services to minority communities and UCSF employees at CED and SFGH. Services include job announcements, application information, screening interviews, job counseling, transfer and promotion information and interviewing workshops.

The new office also houses the Campus Affirmative Action Outreach Recruitment Program, providing minority communities with greater accessibility to employment services and opportunities at UCSF. In addition, the Affirmative Action Program serves as a resource to the Employment Division, campus managers and supervisors in affirmative action outreach recruitment sources, techniques and plans.

The office is open weekdays, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. For further information contact Robert Rojas, outreach recruitment coordinator, x5357 or x1645.

Millberry Union guest suites and private rooms are available for rental to faculty and visitors to the campus for the following rates: suites (bedroom and living room) $55 and $60 per night, single rooms $30 and $40 per night. Each room is equipped with a color TV; daily maid service is available Monday through Friday. For reservations contact Ms. Alberta Louie, x2231.

UCSF researchers have received several grants recently:

- The American Cancer Society has awarded George K. Lewis, PhD, a five-year, $155,000 grant to study the body's immune system, specifically how the white blood cells called B-cells — the body's first line of defense against infection — avoid turning against one another.

Lewis, assistant professor of Microbiology and Immunology, will use the grant, a Faculty Research Award, to support his ongoing study of the antibodies produced by B-cells, the antibodies the body produces against these antibodies, and so on.

- The California Chapter of the American Heart Association has awarded $20,000 to Dennis Wahr, MD, instructor, Thomas Ports, MD, associate professor, and Elias Botvinick, MD, associate professor, all Medicine, to study the "Significance of Collateral Blood Flow in Acute Myocardial Infarction."

In addition, NIH has awarded the same group $18,000 to study relative myocardial perfusion before and after interventional therapy. Both studies will be performed in the Adult Cardiac Catheterization Laboratory.

- The Francis I. Proctor Foundation has been awarded a grant of $17,000 from Research to Prevent Blindness (RPB) to support scientific research into the causes, treatment and prevention of blinding diseases during the coming year. The New York-based research foundation has assisted the Proctor Foundation for the past 24 years, providing almost $4 million in grants for the pursuit of sight-saving research.
- The Nutrition Training Project, in the Office of Extended Programs in Medical Education, has received a grant of $12,650 from the Ford Foundation for a survey of health care provider attitudes towards the practice of breast feeding. Director of the project is Stephen R. Schultz, PhD; assistant director is Joan Thompson, PhD.
- The United Scleroderma Foundation has awarded $10,000 to Marc Kirschner, PhD, professor, Biochemistry/Biophysics, for research into the causes of scleroderma, an incurable disease causing thickening and rigidity of the skin, and affecting some 300,000 people.

In the Library, the recharge rate per photocopy has increased from 5 to 7 cents, effective July 1, because of mounting costs in operation and maintenance of the card-operated photocopy service (Infortext).

IN MEMORIAM

Benjamin F. Tofflemire. A '21 School of Dentistry graduate and well-known inventor of dental instruments. He most recently was honored at the school's annual awards ceremony in May. Tofflemire was responsible for patenting nearly 50 instruments — most of them used for oral and maxillofacial surgery, most prominent being the matrix band and retainer, first developed in 1948 and still widely used in restorative and operative dentistry offices. He recently turned over to the school his numerous patents, "as a token of appreciation" to his alma mater.

A new joint fellowship with UCSF and UC-Berkeley will now allow pediatricians specializing in Adolescent Medicine to get a Master's Degree in Public Health. The two-year program emphasizes the clinical and community needs of high-risk youth and the design and implementation of programs for their care. The first year consists of course work and community agency training in Maternal and Child Health, leading to an MPH degree. In the second year the fellow will do clinical work at SFGH and community agencies.

For applications and further information contact Ira M. Friedman, MD, High Risk Youth Project, SFGH, Room 6E9, 821-8989.
